Letters.

So many letters have collected that for today, we'll simply answer some of the many interesting questions that have been asked.

Friend A. C. D.—I am sorry, but I cannot print the names of ready prepared articles in this column. If your draught doesn't know of any good cure for ails, go to another one does—there are lots of others.

Subscriber—If the itching on the scalp bothers you very much, have your skin examined for eczema. If there is no such trouble, a good hair tonic and massage will start the hair growing again.

Discouraged—A hair cream the skin about as quickly as anything. If you don't wish to use it, and avoid simply rubbing it over your hair, I am not sure how you prepare your hair. I have heard too that it is a healthy blood purifier.

Indian Land Sale Under United States Government Supervision

Nearly one-half million acres belonging to the Choctaw Indians in Southeastern Oklahoma, same to be sold by the Interior Department.

Residence on land not required, neither is it necessary to go West to obtain same, as a demonstration and schooling car sent out by the McAlester Real Estate Exchange of McAlester, Okla., is now here for the purpose of schooling the public in the manner and method of securing the lands, which consist of mixed farming, timber and grazing lands, all located in the probable oil and gas belt of Oklahoma, where drilling is now going on.

These lands can be made to bring in a nice profit immediately after purchasing through the sale of timber rights and through leasing for farming and oil investment, all of which can be arranged without the owner having to go West.

The lands are near railroads and market towns, and in many cases adjoin cultivated farms, thereby insuring a ready market for all natural resources and products taken from the land. Crops of both the North and the South can be grown, which insures ample harvest, as this section of Oklahoma enjoys from 40 to 45 inches rainfall per year.

The lands are appraised at prices ranging from $2 to $7 per acre, which merely takes into consideration the timber value only, and was based upon the government appraisement, made in 1911, when timber appraisers considered only trees which measured 11 inches at the chest line. Therefore, the timber on each tract alone is sufficient to net a profit equal to the cost of the land, making all profits derived from farming and oil purposes a profit over and above the actual cost.

The car will be in town for a few days, and will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., including Sundays.

Visit same and see the wonderful exhibit of Western developments and learn how to secure one of these valuable tracts.

This pretty girl deserves to suit her type perfectly.

A girl is apt to be overdeveloped in some ways, and when this takes the form of a full bust, which will disappear as you grow older. Probably when you are 18, you will be correctly proportioned, unless you are too stout all over.

Mrs. H. L. Coon's butter is too heavy for the complexion, though excellent for the body. Use fresh building cream, massage well after you have washed the face with hot water, and then rub the face with ice till it tingles. The extreme cold acts like an anesthetic, it draws the blood into the face to nourish the tissues, and it tones up the sagging muscles. Use this treatment every night and you will be very pleased with the results.

Margaret Morris' hair is too dry to eat alone, if you don't want to use it on a cereal, mix it with any wet dish and eat it.

M. D.—The candy and sweets probably account for the pimples on the nose. Wash your face very carefully, and wash the nose with hot water and liquid green soap, rinse, then rub with ice. This treatment will prevent blackheads from forming.

ADAP ROBINSON crept in unobserved with his first armful of Christmas presents. "Now for a safe place to hide 'em," he thought. "Ah ha! The broken dumb waiter shaft!" (He meant the shaft of the broken dumb waiter, but unaware that his words were to see the light of print he failed to edit them carefully.) "Nobody'll ever think of looking for them here," he chuckled, and being so thin, easily fitting man, he climbed into the kitchen opening of the shaft with his packages and worked his way to the bottom, a distance of seven feet. "Where'll I hide this steel saving bank for Bobby?" wondered Mamma Robinson, as the 20 pound bank was delivered a few moments later. "I know the broken dumb waiter shaft—she really knew better, but she was excited." And she dropped it down, trusting that it wouldn't break. Hardly had she left the kitchen when Daughter Robinson entered with her iron eight-day clock. "I think it's clever of me to have thought of the dumb shaft of the broken waiter!" she chuckled. (In her fiery she scarcely knew what she was saying.) "I don't know where the clock went, and I don't know where it wouldn't break." They didn't find Papa Robinson till the day before Christmas.
